Former Local Resident Held on $1000 Bail

Mrs. Mary B. Harder, Inglewood Justice Court clerk and former Torrance resident, was arrested last week on a complaint issued by the District Attorney's office that charged the woman with 24 alleged counts of embezzlement and falsification of public records.

Mrs. Harder, who operated a grocery store at Madrid and Sonoma avenues for a number of years before moving to Inglewood, is charged with misappropriation of $1107 of public funds. The shortage was found by an audit of the court records, according to Deputy District Attorney Herbert Grossman. Grossman said that the audit revealed 120 alleged falsified transactions.

Adult School Gives Program at Reception

More than 350 townspeople attended the reception for teachers of the local public schools Monday evening at the High School gymnasium when the Torrance Council Parent-Teacher Association and the Torrance Educational Advisory Committee were co-hosts.

Dr. Howard A. Wood, president of the Board of Education, acted as master of ceremonies and welcomed the faculty members in the name of the sponsoring groups and the townspeople. He then introduced Furman Applegate, principal of the Adult Education High School, who presented the program of the evening.

The Adult Education Orchestra made its first public appearance under the direction of Abe Milstein, music director for the Torrance schools, played several selections. Any adult wishing to play in the orchestra can still join, Milstein said in speaking of the accomplishments of the recently-formed musical group.

Also introduced was the Adult Education Women's choral group known as the Mothersingers, and its director, Anthony E. Vazzana. The Mothersingers sang four numbers, the last "Thanksgiving Hymn." A soprano solo, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," was sung by Mrs. Norma Dobrick.

"No Critter ever made Them Tracks"
 (Today's Covered Wagons roll on Rails of Steel)

Across America the hoofprints of plodding oxen have long since given way to rails of steel. Today this vast, steel-shod network amounts to 398,000 miles of track.

To withstand the terrific pounding of modern trains, rails must be strong and safe. Today's rails average 15 years of main line service, and many additional years of service on secondary lines.

By improving their technology steel companies have produced better steel rails at lower cost. Their price is now only one-third the price of the first rails produced in America.

In railroad steel, as in other steel products, the industry is setting new production records this year. Railroads are getting a third more steel than they used before the war.

Supplying this steel for rail transportation, the steel companies make possible:

For You—quick, safe service;
For Steel Workers—jobs and good wages;
For Everyone—better living.

IN THE NEWS . . . Year by year weekly wages of steel company employees are above the average for all manufacturing industries—13% higher in 1947.

IN THE NEWS . . . From 1939 to 1949, American steel mills will have added 15,000,000 tons to productive capacity. That increase alone is nearly 1,000,000 tons greater than total British production of steel in 1947.
